

Getting Started

As we search for interesting new findings in the realm of browsing diagrams, we provide technologies to base this research on. The subpages show you links to guides on how to setup and use these technologies and on where possible starting points for the research could be.